

THE RIGHT TOOLS FOR THE JOB

FROM MALLETS TO SNIPS - THE ESSENTIAL LEAD TOOL GUIDE

LEAD IS AN EASY MATERIAL TO WORK WITH – IN ALL ITS FORMS. IT DOESN'T REQUIRE A LOT OF PREPARATION OR AFTER-CARE. IT IS EASY TO SHAPE AND CUT TO REQUIRED SIZES. HOWEVER, THERE ARE A FEW LITTLE EXTRAS THAT WILL REALLY MAKE THE PROCESS OF WORKING WITH LEAD EVEN EASIER. HERE'S A QUICK OVERVIEW OF OUR TOP 6 LEAD TOOLS AND THEIR USAGES...

All of our tools are specifically designed for working with lead - not simply general building or masonry tools. Moreover, most of our tools are made of beech wood; a hardwearing hardwood that has got a great tactile quality to it – perfect for craftsmen. Most importantly of all, it works brilliantly with lead. Lead is a relatively soft metal, so a hard wood tool is by far the best choice to work with it.

1. Bossing sticks

The bossing stick is your primary tool for working with lead. It's designed to help you form lead sheet into any desired shape. With their perfectly contoured handles, our beech wood bossing sticks are a joy to use.

2. Dressers

With a long, raised handle, our lead dressers give you plenty of room to work in confined spaces. It's a hardwearing tool too.

3. Bending sticks

Used to shape and mould lead sheet, our bending sticks feature a high-lift handle for easy use.

4. Cutting tools

Our knives and lead snips make working with lead easier than ever. Our precision knives and snips will help you cut lead to precise configurations and leave a smooth finish.

5. Chase wedges

As the name suggests a chase wedge is designed for 'chasing' lead roofing. Or, in other words, to help you drive lead sheet into a desired shape or configuration. Just add a mallet.

6. Mallets

Our beech wood mallets offer lightweight precision and strength – the wooden head is kinder to other tools too.
